Preferred Dental Technologies Inc. Brazil Initiatives Update

Preferred Dental Technologies Inc. (CSE: PDTI, US OTC: PDTTF), is pleased to welcome back our team member from Brazil and provide an update to our announcement on August 21, 2019. Initial activity was attending the largest implantology conference in Latin America: IN 2019 - the Latin American Osseointegration Congress. Our associate then spent an additional two weeks post conference presenting the EAS System to interested implant companies and dental professionals, highlighting the unique advantages of the EAS Series of implant components when compared to competitor custom dental abutments.

We have been advised there are additional companies expressing an interest in launching the EAS Series in Brazil and discussions are currently underway in order to examine each potential opportunity and determine the logistics and the benefits of working with the various respective parties.

Brazil remains a key focus for the company as it is the third largest global market for dental implants and remains one of the fastest growing markets worldwide. With 15% of the world's dentists located in Brazil, PDTI views this market entry being a strong opportunity for growth. We are taking every step to ensure that the final partner selected brings value and growth opportunities for PDTI. An ideal strategic partner would currently have a nation-wide reach in Brazil. The selected companies under consideration have developed their export market which includes the rest of South America and parts of Europe.

About PDTI
